

HARVARD ATHLETES MAKING PROTEST

Captains Will Attempt to Force Them Into Good Standing in Studies.

WILL BRAND MEN WHO FAIL

Students Are Up in Arms and There is Talk of Libel.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., March 12.—Harvard athletes are up in arms over the latest attempt of the captains of the university to force them into good standing in their studies.

According to a letter published in the "Harvard Crimson," from Captains Wiley, Hemenway, Davis and Foster, the names of all the "varsity athletes who are ineligible for their teams on account of unsatisfactory standing in their studies" are being published in the "Crimson." The idea is to brand any man who is kept off his team by poor studies as much of a team as the college as the man who breaks training. The blacklist has raised a storm of protest from the athletes. They say that the "varsity captains are overstepping their proper boundaries and that the reason men are kept off their teams is that they have devoted too much time to their teams. They are willing to work of their own free will, but they will not be publicly browbeaten before the whole college and all their friends.

Some of them even go so far as to say that they will bring suits of libel in case the captains and the "Crimson" really carry their drastic threat into execution. The enforcing of the threat is awaited at Cambridge with great interest.

WOMAN WHO KILLED SISTER IS RELEASED ON BAIL

(By Associated Press.)

ATLANTA, GA., March 12.—Mrs. Willie Standifer, who is charged with killing her sister, Miss Chappell Whitehead, last Friday, was released to-day on $5,000 bond. At her preliminary examination on Saturday, Mrs. Standifer was committed to jail, bond being denied. The case was taken to the Superior Court to-day, and the decision of the commonwealth magistrate was reversed on the representation that Mrs. Standifer is a victim of tuberculosis, and that she has a young child, from which she cannot be separated without danger to the child's health.

DANE AND MCGOVERN ARE BOTH SUGGERS

Terry Hits Harder, But Nelson Can Bear More Punishment

CARE LITTLE FOR SCIENCE

Both of Them Understand Thoroughly the Art of Defensive Fighting.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., March 12.—Nelson, a plodder, against McGovern, a phenomenon. The Dane, a patient absorber of punishment, opposed to the Celt, whom a punch stings into the most uncontrollable fury. The present champion, who won his title by wearing his opponents into exhaustion; the former premier, who piled up more quick knockouts in his first fight across the pugilistic sky than any predecessor or successor.

It is a good match. No wonder those who have been lucky enough to get their seats in advance are hugging their pasteboards as prizes not to be exchanged for wealth or favor, by the time the returns are all in, $20,000 will have been passed up for a chance to see next Wednesday night's battle. It is the greatest sum ever paid for a six-round fight.

Will Be a Real Fight. Neither Nelson nor McGovern cares much for cleverness. Each has made his name by understanding the offensive rather than the defensive side of the game. Both love the strike; neither has ever failed to land a punch. From that heart-stopping moment of excitement when the gong looses the men for their first clash it will be light, with the blows coming fast and the experts who cover the bout will have to draw hard on imagination to give a complete history.

Yet, while both men are pre-eminently fighters, they still represent widely different types of pugilism. Nelson is a boxer, who only needs to be landed once. His right popped over hard on the jaw usually sends the other man to the dressing-room and the crowd to the street cars.

Nothing more disheartens a fighter than to find that though he hits a man the blows show no effect. Nelson, Attell, Herrera all banged away at Nelson, and peppered him hard and often, but they always found him coming in for more, until finally they were worn out by the effort of punching him than he from the blows.

The Brooklyn boy lacks that patience. He not only contrasts with Nelson in his punching power, the difference is also temperamental. Nelson is cool, stolid. His face is expressionless, and natural habit of reticence keeps him from showing what he does feel.

McGovern Like a Boy. McGovern can conceal nothing. His face shows every emotion, every impulse. He is no better educated than Nelson, and, like the Dane, detests that latter-day type of pugilism that dresses suit and apes the ways of society.

Out of the ring, McGovern is the best natured of boys, but in the ring he becomes an explosion. A naturally hot temper has been fanned into intolerant opposition by the speed and ease with which he has whipped many good men. He wants his antagonists to drop the minute they dare to move with him. For a man to last with him is a presumption that ought to be punished with complete annihilation. So, discarding caution, he rushes in to make a quick job of it.

He succeeded with everybody but Young Corbett, and it must be borne in mind that the latter knocked the men who have stopped Corbett. Perhaps, indeed, the history of the ring in the light-weight division might have been different if Corbett had not known just how to irritate McGovern into criminal carelessness.

LORD OF THE VALE GIVEN TOP WEIGHT

NEW YORK, March 12.—Convincing evidence of the class of this year's Benning handicap horses is seen in the fact that the handicapper, Joseph A. Murphy, has allotted 133 pounds, top weight, to August Belmont's Lord of the Vale, who has been only a head in the Futurity of his year and who has won races in high class company since then. The number of horses entered in this year's Benning is fifty-two, and the handicapper has given free rein to his fancy, requiring Lord of the Vale to concede the Yelled Lady forty-five pounds for the difference in age and sex. Both runnings of the race should be keenly contested.

The first running of the Bennings will be at six furlongs, on the opening day, Monday, March 26th. The second running will be at seven furlongs, on the closing day, Saturday, April 14th, the winner of the first race taking up a penalty of ten pounds more than he carried in that race. This year's contest will be marked by participation by the first time of horse owned by the Canadian turfman, William Hendrie, who has Scarfell and Chippewa engaged.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Street Committee Fails to Recommend That Lumber Company Be Allowed Spur Track.

WOULD DEPRECIATE VALUES

Were Fined for Gambling—Tom Cheatham Captured—Death of Mr. Bryce.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, 1 No. 1102 Hull Street.

At a meeting of the Street Committee last night, the Manchester Lumber Company, owned by the Richmond proprietors, Messrs. Miller and Winston, submitted a resolution asking that an ordinance be passed to allow them to run a spur track of the Southern Railroad up Stockton Street, from some property, on which they have an option, between Sixth and Seventh Streets and Stockton and Everett Streets. The company proposes to erect at this place a lumber factory for the manufacture of doors, blinds, sashes and other such material.

Several citizens had heard of the movement and appeared before the committee last night to oppose it. Messrs. J. B. Rudd and A. S. Wright, a member of the committee, Mr. C. C. Jones took the floor and made strenuous opposition to the recommendation of the ordinance by the committee.

They opposed it on the grounds that the running of such a track up Stockton Street and the erection of a lumber yard at the place designated would depreciate the value of the property to a much greater extent than the erection of a factory yard and factory would account for. In the course of the arguments it was stated that a lumber yard now existing there is giving into the city treasury less revenue than would naturally accrue from the property over which the lumber yard and its accessories is spread, and they feared the same for this concern.

It was contended that the company could quite as easily run the track desired up Everett, on which there are few houses, and that the real objection of the company is that the work of grading would be more difficult on Everett Street than on Stockton Street. The company, on the other hand, contended that it is impossible to make the sharp turn into Everett Street.

Mr. Patram, in view of the fact that Manchester Lumber Company had expressed their intention of erecting a factory yard and employing sixty or seventy hands, spoke in favor of recommending the ordinance, on the ground that the erection of such a factory would increase the property value.

Mr. A. R. Hooker offered a resolution that the committee do not recommend the ordinance, and the recommendation was voted down by a vote of five to two.

Annexation Seems Dead. Whether annexation is forever dead in likelihood of being resurrected seems to be the question now. There is little or nothing being heard of it, and it seems generally to have been sunk into oblivion.

A prominent citizen, speaking of it last night, said that the matter would go through with a rush, provided Richmond would agree to have the Corporation Court remain in Manchester. On the other hand, he thought that if the larger city were unwilling to consider this, the matter would result in a stiff fight. But the matter is in such a tangle that it is hard to get a public expression either one way or the other.

Fined for Gambling. Mayor Maurice yesterday morning fined Mr. C. H. Meyers $100 for allowing and for participating in gambling in his saloon at Seventh and Hull Streets. The fine also carries with it the forfeiture of the license. Mr. Meyers, through his counsel, Mr. H. M. Smith, Jr., noted an appeal. The case will be called at the next term of the Corporation Court, which convenes Monday.

The defense declared that this game was simply an exhibition game, and that the $10, over which the charges arose, was simply posted as a forfeit for a game of $25 to be played in Richmond. Mr. Meyers gave $250 bond for his appearance.

J. C. Holladay, who was charged with maintaining a disorderly house on Hull Street, said that he was willing to close the place permanently; and he was dismissed after the Mayor had ordered him to do so.

Josephine Gray and Alberta Price, both colored, charged with mutual assault and battery, appeared before the Mayor. He fined the former $2.50 and told Alberta to go home.

James Smith, a stranger, who was found down and out Sunday afternoon, was fined $2.50.

Willie Higgins and W. E. Jones were each fined $5 for fighting in the streets. W. J. Dillon, Richard Reams and John Crouch were each fined $2.50 for disorderly conduct Saturday afternoon in Cook's place, in Hull Street.

Captured at Last. Tom Cheatham, a negro, who has been wanted for a long time by the Chesterfield authorities, was captured by the Richmond police Sunday afternoon and turned over to Policeman Watts, of Chesterfield county.

The negro is charged with breaking into the wheel and spoke factory of the Seven Hundred Secured During the First Two Hours.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., March 12.—About seven hundred dollars pledged in the first two hours of work is the encouraging approval of the result of the efforts of the Young Men's Christian Association Committee, provided for at the recent public meeting to raise fifteen thousand dollars for the association as a settlement of the disputed question of selling the present building, about which there has been a long and bitter discussion, and a difference of opinion. The committee of five, with James H. Gray as chairman, and A. D. Hamilton secretary, began work this morning, going together through a small portion of the business section of the town. Unconditional subscriptions are requested, and it is desired that a subscriber to a vote at another public meeting to consider the matter, after the expiration of the thirty days allotted the subscription committee for its work.

If the fifteen thousand is secured, the present building will be replaced and improved; otherwise, it is proposed to sell it for thirty-five thousand dollars and erect a smaller one, nearer the residential section of the city.

NEBRASKANS COMING.

Remarkable Trustees Sale of Ancient Furniture.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

OFFLEY, HANOVER COUNTY, VA.—March 12.—Mr. John Dehner, of Nebraska, has purchased from Captain R. M. Berkeley, the old Berkeley homestead, "Mon Tonte." Mr. Dehner has returned to Nebraska to ship his "stuff" to Virginia. He says there are several other farmers in his town who contemplate moving to Virginia.

A most remarkable trustee's sale took place at Dewberry, the home of the late Mrs. B. B. Clarke, Monday. Three oak chairs that had been in the family for about two hundred years and known as the "Barnetts chairs" were knocked out to Mrs. E. C. White, one of the legatees, at $25. A small card table of ancient date, valued at $40, was sold for $10, and an old sewing stand to the same, at $2.

Dewberry was built by the Rev. John Cooke about seventy-five years ago and is one of the finest old places in Virginia. It will be sold soon and some one will get a magnificent brick house.

To Save Schooner.

(By Associated Press.)

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 12.—The schooner Myrtle Tunnell, previously reported ashore on Fanning Pass, lies in about the same position, and is believed, with fair weather, to be in no immediate danger. George A. Tunnell, owner of the vessel, has arrived, and is negotiating for tug boats to pull on the schooner in an effort to float her.

Opposition Steamer.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

COAST GUARD, VA., March 12.—The steamer "Ice Cycle" is running in opposition to the Randall boats, which have a monopoly of the route for some years. The boat is running as an experiment, and if patronage justifies, will be supplanted by a larger one in a short time. The rate on passengers and freight are just a little more than one-half of those charged by the Randall boats.

Real Estate Talk.

The real estate agents are yet busy closing up a number of large deals that were for several weeks "on the string."

"A notable thing about the recent rapid trading," said a real estate man yesterday, "that every deal that got off the string at the time when the extreme conservative got scared about 'too much speculation,' has been closed with the money and the deeds. Even the options have been closed."

This looks very much as if the faith of men who have money to invest is strong in the soundness of the market.

After Sunday's rest the real estate men yesterday looked over their lists of closed-up sales, felt encouraged at the totals and started out for new business.

Several big deals are said to be on the string for the week, and the outlook for increased business is good.

DIVISION OF SPOILS WAS QUITE A BIG JOB

Expert Accountant Tells About Division of Funds Between Greene and Gaynor.

SAVANNAH, GA., March 12.—When the United States court convened to-day in the Greene and Gaynor case, E. J. Johnson, expert accountant, resumed the statement of the expenses of the division of money between the defendants. There were in all, it was contended, thirty-two divisions of spoils. In the simplest case, the witness explained, Carter disbursed $20,075. He went to New York. The $20,075 was divided into the account of W. T. Gaynor. On the same day Gaynor withdrew $13,075 in cash. Two days afterwards Carter bought $13,000 worth of bonds from Reed and Flagg, of New York. The government contends that in every instance where Carter went to New York there was an article allowed of $75 for his expenses, and that Carter invariably made out the check for an amount that would equally divide into thirds, plus $75. Two sessions were held to expedite the introduction of Mr. Johnson's evidence.

TRYING WORK IN HEART OF AFRICA

Rev. Donald Frazer Speaks to Seminary Students on Missionaries' Labors.

POLYGAMY IS ALL THE "GO"

Men Have Any Number of Wives. Pupils Want Pay for Attending Schools.

The students and residents at Union Theological Seminary were treated to a most interesting address on last evening at the Seminary chapel by the Rev. Donald Frazer, of the Church of Scotland Mission at Livingstonia, in British East Africa. Mr. Frazer was one of the speakers at the recent great Student Volunteer convention at Nashville, and the Missionary Society at the Seminary was fortunate in securing him for this occasion.

The speaker referred briefly to the trials of the pioneers in foreign mission work, but said that it was through the suffering and self-denial of these beginners that the wonderful awakening of the heathen had been brought about in the present day. Among the great obstacles with which the Christian missionaries have had to contend is the religious superstition of the natives, seen in the incantations, sorceries and exorcisms of the witch doctors. The picture of this evil and the account of the sufferings of the victims of their hideous ordeals reminded one of the unholy superstitions of the Middle Ages.

Unrestrained human passions illustrated in the frequency of personal and deadly encounters and in the prevalence of polygamy and drunkenness are other enemies of the propagation of the gospel among the Africans.

The methods used by the missionaries for reaching the natives are these: First, the industrial, and by this method, thousands of young men, especially have been trained as carpenters, machinists, telegraphers, along the lines of the great railroads now piercing the dark continent. These men have been trained almost entirely through the industrial methods of the Christian missionaries.

The second method used is the educational. Progress along this line has been extremely slow, as the children at first would apply to the missionary at night for their pay for the day's work. Notwithstanding, much work has been done along educational lines and the outlook is exceedingly bright.

The third method used is the preaching of the gospel. The languages and dialects are not unusually hard for the foreign missionaries to acquire, some of them being able to begin preaching to the natives at the end of three months of diligent study. But the most effective work has been done and must be done through the native converts.

Many of these have been prepared and sent forth among their kindred, and the effects of their work have been wonderful.

Thus, by the combined efforts of the missionaries and their native helpers, a profound impression has been made upon the heart of the great heathen masses in a land which fifty years ago was practically hidden from civilization and Christianity.

In conclusion the speaker made an earnest appeal to the students for their interest in and consecration to the great work of missions.

The Rev. Dr. Robeson, of Edinburgh, ex-moderator of the United Free Church of Scotland, and who was in attendance upon the convention at Nashville, is visiting at the Seminary, in company with Mr. Frazer.
